

WE NOMINATE

James Henry Wakelin, one of the Princeton Community's most versatile scientists and scientific administrators, who this week is appearing before the U.S. Senate's Military Affairs Committee as President Eisenhower's nominee for a top post in the country's defense establishment — Assistant Secretary of the Navy for Research and Development. Just a week following the Senate's acridly contested rejection of Lewis L. Strauss as Secretary of Commerce, Wakelin goes before the legislative firing-squad with what appears to be the full-hearted support of both "sides" of the sometimes august upper chamber.

The nomination of this 48-year-old native of Massachusetts, a Princetonian since 1948, drives home what is involved when an individual agrees to enter the business of government in an executive capacity. Before he can accept a post, he must relinquish any and all associations with any company, corporation or organization which might stand to benefit in any way from government expenditures. Wakelin, for instance, will sever his decade-long connections with the Textile Research Institute, resign an officership in a company he helped found, turn his back on a thriving consulting practice and may find it necessary to yield a directorship of a Princeton-based mutual fund.

Wakelin, described by a fellow scientist as "scientist, counselor and catalyst of enthusiasm," returns to Washington with a remarkable background in both pure and applied research. Some 16 years ago he left his post as a senior physicist with the B. F. Goodrich Company to accept a World War II commission with the Navy. Before he returned to civilian life in 1948 he had twice won citations from the Secretary of the Navy and had been a key factor in the planning and activation of what is now the Office of Naval Research, the billion-dollar operation that will fall under his supervision, once he is confirmed.

For the past 13 years Wakelin, the son of a banker and inveterate yachting enthusiast, has literally lived high-level research, including service as a director of Project Squid, a nine-university program of research in propulsion, and three years (1951-1954) as director of research of the Textile Research Institute. In 1954, while continuing as a research associate of T.R.I., he brought into being his own Princeton-headquartered consulting firm, with roots in a dozen or more industries, and helped found the Chesapeake (Md.) Instrument Corporation, which conducts research and development in the areas of underwater sound and acoustic devices.

A member of the Class of 1932 at Dartmouth, who carried forward graduate study in Cambridge University, England, Wakelin—now the father of three sons—took his doctoral degree in physics at Yale in 1940. Among his major interests in recent years, in addition to the outreach of science, have been the Cub Scouts, the Lawrenceville Parent-Teachers' Association and the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross. He is a former president of the Nassau Club of Princeton, a present member of its Board of Trustees and is also vice-president of the Fathers' Association of the Lawrenceville School.

For his "exceptionally original and many-sided approach to scientific problems and research organization;" for standing among that select group of men "who are willing to sacrifice in order to serve;" for meriting the responsibilities for which he has been nominated by the President of the United States; he is Town Topics' nominee for

DECADE OF PROGRESS

In Polio Prevention. A decade ago, the Princeton community was shocked by the tragic death within a fortnight of three children from the dread and mysterious disease known as poliomyelitis. There was little knowledge of how to combat or prevent its unforeseen attack: "avoid over-exertion," "stay away from crowds," "swimming pools are carriers of the germ."

Iron lungs were a last resort for polio victims. Some recovered, many were crippled in an arm or leg, and in that sultry summer of the late 'forties, three Princeton families tasted tragedy in its bitterest dress as a young life eoded.

Tuesday afternoon, as another summer was beginning in Princeton, a contrasting scene of the pleasant nature was enacted at Princeton Hospital. Princetonians of all ages and their neighbors from other communities queued toward a polio clinic for dollar-a-shot Salk vaccine.

Their combined eagerness to be inoculated, to feel the mildst of pin pricks and trade that for freedom from fear of the one-time

Killer kept four doctors and eight nurses busily engaged in an assembly-line procedure. By the time the clinic was over, a record 433 men, women and children had received the welcome shots. Under the joint auspices of the Mercer County Medical Society, the Hospital Council of Mercer County (to which Princeton belongs) and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, clinics were originated in 1956. Now being held on a monthly basis, they are open to all-comers, with the National Foundation receiving half of each dollar fee for vaccine and the hospital half for expenses in sterilization, needles, etc.

Reactions among the younger generation were varied — from the expressions in the picture above and on page 2, to a happy, tearless report, "It didn't hurt at all!" Women of all ages were present; so was a bumpy truck driver. A nurse whispered, "His arm will need the biggest needle we've got."

There was ample proof, too, that the wisdom of polio prevention had been quickly accepted. One mother reported: "I came for my shot — all my children have had theirs."

"A DECENT PLACE TO LIVE"

Township Ponders Ordinance. Princeton Township lacks an adequate law requiring landlords to provide decent, sanitary places for people to live.

Next Wednesday night, the Township Board of Health will meet to discuss and review such an ordinance, which the Board hopes to introduce and pass in the fall. The proposed measure sets up, in detail, minimum standards for the condition and maintenance of homes and dwelling units within homes.

Under its terms, a landlord will be required to have hot and cold running water; basin, sink and flush toilet facilities; a bathroom for every 10 persons; permanent lighting in public halls and stairways; heating units that can warm a room to 68 degrees, safely and without danger of fire. He will not be allowed to rent living quarters in a basement or to heat rooms with portable units that use gasoline or kerosene, or to cram as many people as he can into what little space he has.

Township health officials recall one house in which 40 people lived in seven rooms. There was no kitchen, no running water, no screens on the windows. The 40 tenants — including very young — Continued on Page 2 children and infants — shared two toilets and two basins, and there were no fire escapes to shore at all.

Conditions in this house were remedied, after tenants' complaints, because the health officer was able to cajole the landlord into doing something. There was, however, no legal basis on which the health officer could act and the new ordinance has been drawn up to provide such a base.

If the ordinance is passed as it now stands, it will give the health officer power to inspect a dwelling at any time. It also gives a tenant a chance to present his case in a special hearing. If his case goes before the magistrate, he may be fined up to $100. Health officials believe that the ordinance, if passed next fall, will not only assure many Princeton tenants a decent place to live, but will also reduce the delinquency that so often follows tenancy in crowded, unhealthy living conditions.

PERSONALITIES

Bernard Glover, 96 Mountain Avenue, whose appointment to the newly-created position of superintendent of buildings and grounds for the Borough of Princeton is expected to be confirmed within the next week. The native, 38-year old Princetonian, a Princeton High alumnus, gained experience in his new $7,000-a-year post through successive positions with the Matthews and Tower Construction Companies, spending four years with the latter as superintendent of construction.

Robert B. Meyner, Stockton Street, who was up at 5:45 Tuesday morning to finish packing preparatory to a flight (with eight other governors) that will take him by Thursday to the start of a two-week visit to Russia. Asked to comment on a blast by Republican State Chairman Charles R. Erdman, Jr. (who lives within a stone's throw of "Meyner") that he should stick to his mending at home, Gov. Meyner merely remarked, "I love my neighbor." (For a report on Mrs. Meyner's preparations on the trip accompanying her husband, see page 14.)

ROUNDUP

Fifty years of married life, a notable event rarely experienced, was celebrated on Monday by Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Covenhoven, Jr. of Lafayette Road. They were married in Newburgh, N.Y., June 22, 1909, and are Princeton's oldest married couple.

"THIS WON'T HURT." At least, not much. This week's polio clinic at Princeton Hospital drew a record number of patients, small and large, who came to be inoculated against the disease that used to be the great gripper of children. The needles look formidable, but the expert doctors work so fast that the needle is in and out before a child can pull in his breath for a second cry. (Story on page 1.)

STUDY GROUP LAUDS PHS

"Excellent" Rating Given. Princeton High School has been rated as "excellent" by a 22-member school evaluation committee of the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. A digest of the committee's 48-page report, which grew out of a three-day inspection of the school, was made public by B. Woodhull Davis, superintendent of schools, at Tuesday night's Borough Board of Education meeting.

Princeton High was given an overall numerical rating of 4.0 out of a possible five points. A rating between four and five is considered excellent. The median rating for 780 schools evaluated in the area was 3.5. Mr. Davis said the results of this rating are at least as favorable, and in some cases better, than those of the last evaluation 10 years ago.

In a bar graph which summarizes the written evaluation of the committee in 14 areas of the school program, Princeton High received a rating of "excellent" in six fields: physical facilities, instructional staff, methods of evaluation, pupil activity program, school plant and school staff and administration. The duplication of categories arises from the fact that the first three fields are rated as subdivisions under the general category, "subject fields." Only one category, guidance services, which were rated "fair," fell below the "good" rating.

Some Criticisms. Although the school's program of studies was rated 3.4, or "very good," the committee came up with sharp criticism of the program for low-ability students, saying the present program "is developed too entirely from the academic point of view." The committee says it "found little evidence that the school as yet has made any concerted effort to identify the needs of its less able 10 to 20 percent and to develop a program through which to serve these as effectively as you now serve the needs of your more able groups."

Such a new program, the report continues, would include courses specifically tailored to the interests of the low-ability students, rather than courses which merely "dilute" the regular program. "Their literature may be found in magazines; their hero may be a Roy Campanella instead of a Sidney Carton. Their mathematics may be the arithmetic of the shop or the home and the pros and cons of insouciant buying."

This section of the report was criticized at the meeting by members of the board and the school administration as reflecting a lack of understanding of the school's actual program, as well as an outmoded and incorrect philosophy of education, Mr. Davis rejected the charge that the school is "diluting" its regular courses for low-ability students and pointed out that these students are receiving instruction specially designed for their needs.

The board said it could not accept curriculum changes which stem from a belief that the purpose of education is anything other than the development of the mind. In his comments appended to the report digest, Mr. Davis said, "To be accused of not caring after all of the time and effort spent on the problem is disconcerting, to say the least."

"We cannot agree with the committee in penitizing our rating . . . when they admit that for 50 percent of the school population, (the curriculum is) excellent," the superintendent said. "Furthermore, no one has to criticize a physician for failing to cure a disease for which no cure has been developed."

Mr. Davis said the administration largely agreed with the committee's criticisms of the school's library and guidance programs. Plans are currently being taken to remedy deficiencies in these areas, he said.

One of these steps will be the establishment next fall of a central group, headed by Dr. John Eardon, director of all school services, to coordinate guidance activities throughout the school system. Dr. Eardon will be assisted by a trained counselor and a clerical worker. In addition, a new record system was inaugurated this year to facilitate the recording of students' transcripts.

Other Board Action. The board approved the allocation of $8,110 to construct two composition tennis courts of the high school, replacing the present macadam courts. Four more composition courts will be added later, at a cost of about $17,000. If the board feels the first two are being cared for properly by players who use them. Construction of the first two courts is planned for this summer.

The board approved the appointment of Mrs. Ann B. Taylor as fourth grade teacher at Nassau Street School and of Bernard L. Gannon as an English teacher at the high school. . . . At the request of the Somerset County school board, 15 third, fourth and fifth graders from Rocky Hill will be allowed to attend the Nassau Street School.

Mr. Davis was authorized to purchase a new Board of Education car to replace the 1953 model now in use. . . . The reappointment of Irving W. Morison as board secretary, a post he has held for 26 years, was approved "by acclamation." Mrs. Kathleen James was reappointed as assistant secretary. . . . The contract for the high school's 100 new band uniforms was awarded to Philadelphia Uniform Co., which will produce the uniforms for $48.00 each.

MASTER PLAN SIMMERS Board Discusses Details. The problem of pin-pointing the Township's Master Plan has occupied the municipality's Planning Board at its last two special sessions. So far, the Board has made the following tentative decisions, with final acceptance hoped for by Wednesday:

- To investigate the definitions of "research" and extend the uses of Research Park to "light nuisances" so that a broader range of organizations might become interested in locating there.

- To extend the research zone northwest to within 300 feet of Route 206, but to hold the southern boundary of the northern extension to the location it has on the Master Plan map.

- To extend the three-quarter acre zone south from the Research Park area along the east line of the Braeburn tract to Snowden Lane, and to extend it south to Route 27 to include seven lots along the Millstone.

The Board also made a change in the park area along Stony Brook so that the area excludes any part of the property of C.D. Klinger on Quaker Road. The Board also tapped Candeb Associates for a drafting error: lots on the south side of Newlin Road should not be in the educational zone.

Mystifying Month

Does June know what to do?

—SUN R. TRIM

June was closing out as a puzzling but albeit rather pleasant month, the man reported. After earlier-than-usual heat and humidity, the temperature had dipped consistently into the low fifties. Last week, there were five such days in a row, with Monday a low of 53 a near record. The four-day forecast starting Thursday admits to a possibility of showers late in the day, followed by clearing Friday. The weekend should be pleasant; temperatures actually somewhat below normal and good weather for golf, garden or beach.

"PLAYBOY" TO OPEN

Falk Will Star. Princeton's first summer festival will get under way Saturday night at 8:30 with the opening of the University Players' production of John M. Synge's "Playboy of the Western World" at Murray Theatre on the Princeton campus. The play, which has been described by Brooks Atkinson as "a lyric masterpiece, a play that overflows with spoken music," will run every night but Sunday through Saturday, July 4.

Directed by Philip Minor, "Playboy" will star Peter Falk, who appeared as Stanley in the Players' production of "A Streetcar Named Desire" two years ago; Georgine Hall of Princeton, star of the Players' "Saint Joan" and Theatre Intime's "Glass Menagerie," and Mary Doyle, a member of the Actors' Studio and the famous lead in Sarayan's "Cave Dwellers."

"Playboy of the Western World," now almost universally respected as a major theatrical work, was a storm center for years after its first production in Dublin in 1907. For a full week after the opening at the Abbey Theatre, an organized band of powderies interrupted the dialogue with trumpet blasts and bombarded the actors with trash.

So intense was the controversy that the poet William Butler Yeats, one of Synge's friends, felt called upon to champion the work publicly by writing a poem, "On Those Who Hated The Playboy of the Western World, 1907." Yeats called the play "my friend's noble art, so full of passion and heroic beauty."

Reservations and tickets may be obtained by writing or calling the University Players, Murray Theatre, Princeton, WA 4-3535, in addition to the regular series of theatrical productions, the Players will present for the first time a series of Monday evening concerts in McCosh 10 on the Princeton campus.

The series will begin on July 6 at 8:30 with an appearance by Pearl Primus and her company of ethnic and modern dancers. Tickets for the concerts are also available from the Players.

Others who will appear in the concert series are Mathilde McKinney and Edward T. Cone, pianists; Janice Harsanyi, soprano; Donald Gramm, bass-baritone; Karl and Phyllis Kraeuter, string duo; Karen Duke, balladeer, and Joyce Fessler, violinist.

THEATRE MARKS 50TH YEAR

At New Hope, Pa., the community of New Hope, Pa., is giving an open house party for the Bucks County Playhouse in honor of the 50th birthday of the summer theatre. The public has been invited to attend the celebration at the renovated grist mill on Ingham Creek Wednesday, July 1, at 11 p.m. in front of the theatre.

Now in its 21st season of plays, the Playhouse will present a revival of the Moss Hart-George S. Kaufman comedy, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," which opened on Broadway in 1939, the year the Bucks County Playhouse opened. Harpo Marx had his first stage speaking role in an earlier Bucks County presentation of the play. Gale Gordon, motion picture and television comedian who was featured as Mr. Conklin in the "Our Miss Brooks" program, will star in the play.

Grace Kelly, now Princess Grace of Monaco, has been invited to attend the party at the theatre, where she made her stage debut in her uncle George Kelly's play, "The Torchbearers." Constance and Joan Bennett have also been invited to represent their father Richard Bennett, who founded the theatre with St. John Terrell.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Sleeping Beauty (June 21-30) is another technically perfect Walt Disney animation, this time in ultrawidescreen Technirama and Technicolor. The film took six years to make, and shows it. In its emotional impact, however it strengthens our attachment to the minority view that when Disney meets a fairy-tale, the fairy-tale often comes out second-best.

The story hews with reasonable closeness to the traditional tale. When she is not invited to Princess Aurora's christening, the Fairy-Witch casts a spell on the little princess. According to the spell, before her 16th birthday the princess will suffer a spinning-wheel cut and will be put into an everlasting sleep. The good fairies, hoked up by Disney into a jolly threesome named Flora, Fauna and Merryweather, try to prevent this, but the cut comes as predicted on the eve of Aurora's 16th birthday. The rest of the plot concerns the Fairy-Witch's attempt to keep Prince Philip from kissing Aurora and thus breaking the spell.

Perhaps our strongest objection to all this lies in the gratuitous sadism thrown in the character of the Fairy-Witch. This crone is far more terrifyingly evil than BISTERY CONCERN: Audrey Hepburn, as Sister Luke, assists surgeon Peter Finch in "The Nun's Story," opening Wednesday at the Playhouse. The film, in color, is set largely in the Belgian Congo.

News Of The Theatres

the plot requires, and the film's message of Good triumphing over Evil is likely to be lost in the face of her massive powers. Young moviegoers will no doubt respond to "Sleeping Beauty" with the entrancement Disney always inspires in them, but it might be wise to prepare them with a cautionary lecture as to the fictional quality of the film's events.

The Nun's Story (July 1-7) features Audrey Hepburn in a well-done adaptation by Robert Anderson of the best-selling novel by Kathryn C. Hulme. The picture is an extraordinary vehicle for the subtle talents of Miss Hepburn, who acts the role of the young nun with delicacy and poise.

A Belgian girl, Miss Hepburn enters a convent at Bruges with a strong desire to become a nun and nurse in the Belgian Congo. Her central problem becomes apparent immediately: All her good intentions notwithstanding, Miss Hepburn does not have a nun's personality. Strong-willed and "prideful" when she should be self-effacing, she nevertheless completes her training successfully and goes to the Congo. There she is forced into deciding whether to remain a sister by the influence of an agnostic surgeon who respects her nursing ability but tells her she was not cut out to be a nun.

The film's presentation of an internal conflict such as this is never easy to bring off successfully, but Miss Hepburn has managed it. Furthermore, she has done it honestly—through acting ability, and without such shoddy devices as tortured close-ups accompanied by pre-recorded "thoughts." The picture is a aided by Director Fred Zinnemann's detailed exploration of convent life, an unusual and fascinating chronicle. "The Nun's Story" is in Technicolor.

THE GARDEN

Don't Go Near the Water (June 25-27) is a very funny film about the lives and loves of a landlocked Coast Guard public relations unit on a South Seas island. Adapted from William Brinkley's novel, the picture, which stars Glenn Ford, Gia Scala, Earl Holliman, Anne Francis, Keenan Wynn, Fred Clark and Eva Gabor, is fast-paced and continuously entertaining.

Ford is engaging as the young lieutenant who does his best to foul up the projects of his overbearing senior officer, played by Clark, and to squelch Wynn, who is cast as Hollywood's idea of a working newspaperman. Miss Scala provides the darkly beautiful love interest as the English-speaking schoolteacher daughter of the island's wealthiest citizen. Supplementary romance is added by Holliman, a yeoman who has designs on Miss Francis, a lieutenant. In addition to the comedy and romance, the picture is worth seeing for the background shots, which are entrancing in LaCinemaScope and MicroColor.

Battleground (June 25-July 1) is the better part of a decade old but still ranks as one of the top efforts to record a major phase of World War II. The story is built around the historic "Battle of the Bulge," the grim days of late 1944 when the Germans launched their final counter-offensive in an attempt to keep the Allies from entering the Homeland.

A bitter cold setting in the Ardennes Forest heightens the drama, as the Nazis spring their surprise attack and inflict heavy casualties before their desperate drive is contained. Among the minor classics of history recorded at the time was the Germans' demand to an American regiment to surrender or die, and the embattled colonel's monosyllabic reply: "No!"

Van Johnson, Ricardo Montalban, George Murphy and John Boalick head the fine cast. In line with the Garden's summer-time policy, matinees only on Saturday, and second run of this picture at 5:30.

NO CRYING TOWEL?

Wipe the Tea Cups, Linen and terry tea towels at Farkow's are colorful and thirsty—like some people we know. "Variety is the spice of life," says one linen towel. It has blocks of herbs around the border and a red nylon ruffle on its edges, just like a petticoat.

Leacock makes a linen towel with halos of fruits, butterflies and a tree of life. There is also a Leacock towel with a charming Hindu god and which, according to the good-Drahnin: he has a different cocktail in each of his six hands.

Terry towels for each day of the week come in sets of six. Terry lost his calendar? No, indeed. Sunday is Mother's Day On the box says, and the whole family eats out.

Hi-Dri, the fabulous blotter cloth, makes a Bar None towel with appropriate symbols of the drinking rite. You can even buy, at the Shopping Center, linen shop, a plain white linen tea towel with colored stripes. Just like grandma's.

For a summer luncheon, buy a round table cloth blooming with day lilies, zinnias, geraniums (and green geranium leaves), palis, elderberries and butterflies. Each flower is life-size and life-color and the are strewn over the white cloth just as they might have spilled from your garden basket.

Another round flowered cloth is more subdued in color. It has violet, blue and aqua pansies as a background with deep royal purple ones standing out against the paler shades.

A rayon you'd swear was linen, has been used for a pale yellow cloth embroidered with a fine tracery of white. Comes in dusty pink, too.

True Irish linen makes place mats which look like mosaics of grey stone. Against the grey, there are rust and green and blue birds scuttering about, picking up your crumbs, no doubt. They are mere pencil strokes with stick legs; some of them might be pheasant, by the outline.

Again Irish linen: this time in a modern cloth that looks like pale tweed. Buy one in beige, pale green, pale coral or brown.

Linen with a difference: a hand - embroidered (Madeira) Irish linen big to buy for a veritable prince of a baby. Invisible stitches hold the nursery appliques: a duckling pushing a flower basket, puss in boots, and so on.

Crib pads in this shop are white and quilted, naturally, but printed with great big colored six-shooters, for a six-months-old six-shooter, or Alice in Wonderland characters in the Disney manner.

Straw Hat Circuit. Those wild straw hats you've seen, the ones that never grew in any farmer's

Hand Painted

A porcelain rose, each petal standing free of its white background, adorns a pin in the new collection of hand-painted jewelry at the Princeton Gift Shop, 13 Palmer Square. Earrings match.

This exquisite jewelry is porcelain—not ceramic — and its pieces include pendants hanging from slender gold chains, pins and earrings. One set is cream with black Chinese characters. Another is white with the full-blown roses described above, rising gracefully from the surface of pin or earring.

Perhaps the most delightful pieces are the little white earrings with the tiniest grey mice you ever saw—each curling tail made with one hair of a paint brush.

Incidentally, the Gift Shop says that Princeton shoppers seem to have a curious attraction to wood. Wooden ones, felt ones, painted ones—the Shop can't stock enough.

field, probably came from the Princeton Gift Shop on Palmer Square. They are natural straw—if "natural" is the word in this case—and they have such fancies as a pocket for cigarettes in the hat band, felt eyes and nose on the crown and magnificent purple straw mustachios 14 inches long slicking straight out to here.

To its large family of wooden animals—poodles, giraffes, mice and boxes—the Gift Shop has now added a walnut hippopotamus whose top jaw lifts up to reveal a nice pocket under the tongue where daddy can keep cuff-links and small change over night. There is also an arrogant peacock with flat blades of wood that fan out to make a spreading tail. He's too important to hold anybody's small change.

Three clock music boxes play a sweet dance of the hours. One looks like a television set with a spinning ballerina inside the picture. Another has a clock that dances when you feed him with a coin. Traditional Swiss boxes have little pastel milkmaids painted on the wooden tops.

MUSIC In Princeton

PREMIERE PLANNED
At Band Concert Friday: The Princeton Community Band will feature the first performance of a piece named "Love of Two Trombones" by Clark Gesner, a Princeton university senior, at its open air concert on Friday evening at 7:30 in front of Nassau Hall. Arranged by Jay Brower, the composition will have Marion Hartman and Tom Hutchinson as trombone soloists.

A native of Plainfield, Mr. Gesner began composing at Plainfield High School. At Princeton he has been a member of the Triangle Club since his freshman year, and wrote music and lyrics for the last two Triangle productions, in addition to performing in the cast.

His one-act musical, "Mother Loves Me," was produced at Murray Theatre last year. Next year, he will be vice-president of the Triangle Club.

The Community Band's first concert of the season will include, in addition to "Love of Two Trombones," the "Russian Sailor's Dance," by Reinhold Gliere; Richard Wagner's "Travis Symphonie"; Gustav Holst's "Suite No. 1 in E Flat"; and Vincent Persichelli's "Pagant." In case of rain, the concert will be postponed until Monday.

BEETHOVEN TO BIRDLAND
At Diebhean Music School, Pupils of John Diebhean gave an informal recital Saturday at the Diebhean Music School.

A wide variety of classical and popular music was performed, including selections by Beethoven, Tchaikovsky, Chopin, Schubert, Schumann, Bachmanhoff, Debussy, and such lighter pieces as "Blue Skies," "Autumn Leaves" and the "Lullaby of Birdland."

Performing in the recital were Stephanie Judson, Sandy Potter, Billy Woodrow, Sharon Stevenson, Linda Bowman, Ivan Dommesch and Siegie Sittig.

BATTLE OF FIRE: Gigantis and Angurus engage in a battle of fire before fleeing crowds in "Gigantis, the Fire Monster," showing at the Lawrence Drive in now through Saturday.

It's New To Us

Your favorite Hummel figurines are now on sale at this gift shop. These little Bavarian children, as charming as they were in 1921 when they were first made, are available in standing figures or as small framed drawings.

The Hummel factories also make a Flair Tuck mug, sugar and creamer and jugger. Brown, round and jolly.

Art from China. The prize of feasting at the Princeton Decorating Shop, Palmer Square, is an old teak mah jongg table from China which can be used, naturally, for playing mah jongg, or for coffee drinking. It stands about coffee table height, 30 inches square with a slim drawer in each side to hold files—or cigarettes.

The table is covered with the most elaborate hand carving; in fact, the plain, square legs are the only unadorned parts of the table. It has a glass top to provide a smooth playing surface. With the table is a set of four mah jongg stools, 12 by 18 inches by 10 inches high.

There are many Chinese pieces in the Decorating Shop now, some of them originals, some excellent reproductions. Among the reproductions, you will find two figurines of antiqued gold. They look Buddhist, but nobody seems to know exactly what they are. They stand 20 inches high and are almost identical except for the turn of a hand.

Shining brass, or polished as your own andirons, forms a pair of Chinese candlesticks which are much plainer and more geometric than many Chinese pieces. They are 22 inches high with massive white candles three inches in diameter and about 10 inches tall.

A small Chinese bowl, made about 1607, is made of egg china so thin that it weighs scarcely an ounce in your hand. It rests on a fitted teak stand, so that you may admire its fragile beauty.

From the Ming period, the Decorating Shop has a pair of horses in that strong, clear green with just the faintest underline of yellow. These are ant reproductions.

Italiana potters have made some pleasantly whimsical pieces to use for informal summer dining. One is a 14-inch tureen made like a lemon and colored like one. A life-sized lemon has been fastened on top to use as a handle.

Then there's the hollow cabbage that's a salad bowl (huge, deep and echoing) with matching salad plates that are dark green leaves. Another tureen is a white duck. An asparagus dish is a bound bunch of white asparagus. We liked the two sauce boats that are really hen and tom turkeys. Buy both of them against next November.

If you need an 18-inch lamp (even taller, with shade), buy the white glass one with sea-shells painted on it, true as life.

lowing evidence submitted to Judge Arthur S. Lane in Tremont, the charge was changed to careless driving. Miss O'Neill had been given a hearing before Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. to answer a charge brought by Borough police that she had been intoxicated while driving her car on April 7. In addition, she was accused of having passed a "stop" sign and driving on the wrong side of the street.

Her sentence in borough court was two years' revocation of license and a $225 fine—both mandatory for convictions of driving while intoxicated. In the appeal before Judge Lane, Miss O'Neill admitted that she had had one Scotch and soda and part of a second drink but that her car had not followed a straight course because of her nervous condition.

Miss O'Neill denied having passed the "stop" sign and driving on the wrong side of the street. Judge Lane accepted a plea of guilty to careless driving, reduced the fine to $25 and restored her license.

He ruled that the evidence presented for a conviction on driving while intoxicated was insufficient.

OVER AND AROUND: Motorists will be able to drive from Bucks County to Route 1 without entering Trenton on the proposed nine-mile state freeway shown above. Construction on the limited-access, high-speed road is scheduled to begin Tuesday. Beginning at the new Scudders Falls Bridge (A), the road will cut through Ewing, Hopewell and Lawrence Townships and terminate at Bakers Basin on Route 1. The freeway will be constructed to provide two 22-foot-wide roadways separated by a 50-foot center island and flanked by 12-foot hard-surfaced shoulders and a seven-foot graded sidewalk area. It will overpass Scotch Road, Lower Ferry Road, Route 68, Route 206, Benjamin Franklin Road and Route 1, and underpass Bear Tavern Road and Federal City Road. In all, 12 major bridge structures will be required.

Magistrate Theodore T. Tamm Jr. also fined William Ronald, 32, Main Street, Kingston, $10 for failure to have adequate headlights on his car. A disorderly person charge against Robert C. Ford, 47, 132 Patton Avenue, was dismissed.

FIRM PLANS MOVE

To Lawrence Township, Bosman and Cannon Inc., a North Jersey millwork firm, will move to the corner of Carnegie Road and Route 1 in Lawrence Township, the Mercer County Industrial Commission has reported. The firm will construct a 40,000-square-foot cedar-block building on the 12-acre site, which it hopes to occupy by fall.

The site was bought by the firm from Manor Realty Company, an affiliate of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The land is part of a tract held by the railroad for industrial development. Carl K. Loven of Glen Rock is the architect.

Work on the new building will begin in about three weeks. Bosman and Cannon is a new corporation, formed through the merger of two millwork firms now operating in Plainfield. Approximately 50 skilled and semi-skilled workers will be employed at the new location.

HUMANE SLAUGHTER ASKED

By Animal Rescue League. The Princeton Small Animal League has endorsed a bill pending before the state assembly on humane slaughter of meat animals. A public hearing will be held Monday, July 13, in the assembly chamber of the State House in Trenton.

William Bender, chairman of the committee for state humane slaughter legislation, has urged members of the New Jersey Humane Society to attend the hearing and support the bill. According to Mr. Bender, Orthodox Jewish groups object to the bill, although it stipulates that ritual slaughter is humane.

Also discussed in a series of meetings held here was the improvement of animal care in public and commercial pounds. William O'Grady, the society's president, stated that adequate care is lacking in some state pounds. Evidence of insufficient heating and inhumane disposal methods have been found, he said.

Groups participating in panel discussions covered treatment of animals in laboratories and zoos. It was suggested the campaign be renewed to inform the public about suffering caused by overbreeding of unwanted animals.

RIVER ROAD POOL OPENS

Attraction 750 on First Day. The swimming pool operated by the River Road Recreation Association in Rocky Hill opened Saturday for the 1959 season. Despite cooler-than-usual weather, some 750 children between the ages of 5 and 17 had been to the water by closing time.

Classes for beginners, intermediates and advanced swimmers are held daily from 10 until noon, under the direction of Nicholas F. Gusz, Jr., pool manager. The four qualified instructors in attendance are Charles F. Wreden, Cynthia M. Sanner, Carol M. Tatter and John M. Raubitschek.

The pool is open from 10 to 5 six days a week and from 1:30 to 5 on Sundays. Facilities are available without charge to children in Kingston, Rocky Hill, Hillsboro, Montgomery, and part of Princeton, Franklin and South Brunswick Townships.

SEMINARS OPEN TO ALL

In Chemistry and Math. The six Wednesday evening seminars scheduled as part of the Summer Institute in Chemistry and Mathematics at Princeton University will be open to the public.

The first of these will take place next week at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Frick Laboratory on Washington Road. The speaker will be Prof. John Turkevich, whose topic will be the "Physical Chemistry of Carbon."

Dr. Teveich, a member of the University faculty, is widely known as a pioneer of new methods of analysis, emerging from the use of the electron microscope, the application of radar techniques to his investigation of catalysis. Sponsored by the National Science Foundation, the summer Institutes will bring 80 teachers of chemistry and mathematics here for consultation with Princeton scientists working on the frontiers of research.

AVOID DELAY: Finding itself with the mammoth job of issuing new license plates to 2,400,000 motorists, the Division of Motor Vehicles has requested that the public facilitate the task of distribution by mail. This can be done by promptly informing the Division of Motor Vehicles of any change of address in order to insure prompt delivery of the new plates by mail, particularly motorists living in townships or on rural mail routes should check their registrations for confirmation of a proper mailing address, the Division has warned. This will be the last general mailing of new plates since 1952. Between 160,000 and 200,000 sets of plates will be mailed each month until next May in order to effect the changeover.

AQUASHOW AT POOL OPENING: A four-hour water show highlighted the opening of the YM-YWCA's new pool Saturday. The Rev. Philip Clayton established the League and the four young people now in Princeton are called the Clayton Volun-teers. They are Sally Campbell, Margaret Latimer, Sally Moon and Terry Cooper.

Their hosts are Winant Volun-ter families and include Miss Susan Smith, Miss Elizabeth Thomas, Miss Llewellyn Hall, Miss Audrey Kramer, Miss Elaine Polhemus, the Rev. Ledlie Laugh-lin, the Rev. Charles Newbery and the Rev. Francis C. Hunting-ton.

ETS CHOOSES CONANT

As Board Chairman. Dr. James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard University, has been elected chairman of the board of Educational Testing Service. He succeeds Dr. Henry H. Hill, presi-dent of George Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville.

Dr. Conant, currently engaged in a comprehensive study of the American high school, was the first chairman of the Board of Trustees when ETS was founded in 1947. He continued as a trustee until his appointment as U. S. High Commissioner to Germany in 1953, and was re-elected to the board in 1957 when he returned to this country after serving as am-bassador to Germany.

Elected to four-year terms as trustees were William G. Carr, executive secretary of the Na-tional Education Association, Washington; Stuart Hedden of New Milford, Conn., lawyer, in-vestment banker and former trustee of Wesleyan University, and John D. Millett, president of Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

MRS. MEYNER DEPARTS

To Visit Russia with Husband. Mrs. Robert B. Meyner left Idlewild Airport on May 2, Friday for a European tour which will be climaxed by a visit to Russia with Governor Meyner and eight other governors. She will visit her sister and brother-in-law in Munich and stop in Amsterdam before flying to Moscow to join her husband.

New Jersey's First Lady was looking forward to the trip, on which she wishes to "speak to my contemporaries among Russian women. I'd like to talk to factory women and working women of all kinds," she said. "I hope to answer any question they may have about this country."

Toward this end, she carried leaflets describing New Jersey and postcards showing Morven, the governor's residence, in her suitcase. Although she took only one bag, she admitted it weighed 44 pounds including drip-dry dresses, warm sweaters, a topcoat, and some very sensible, ugly walking shoes.

Mrs. Meyner said the Governor is also taking wash-and-wear clothes on his three-week trip. "I expect to spend some time over a washing machine," she commented. "I'll do my own clothes, and his too, unless I can train him to do his own."

Only Wunnie to Go. As far as she knows, she is the only wife accompanying the party of nine governors which she will travel together in "pretty much of a sing party." She is paying for her trip herself, though the governors will travel under the auspices of the International Institute of Education and New York University.

Mrs. Meyner has been brushing up on her Russian phrases for the past month. "I don't do appreciate that you've made an effort to learn a few words of their language," she said. Governor Meyner has been working with her. "Just half an hour every morning."

"Scuse me — that's thank you," she recited. "Good morning in Russian is Dobryyosveto. And good evening is Dobryyevcher."

Although she has never been to Russia, the governor's lady is not a novice at traveling. She has been around the world twice, spent four months in the Far East and two years in Korea. In preparation for her current trip she talked to her cousin, Adlai Stevenson, about his trip to Russia. She and the governor also have talked to Princeton University specialists about Russia and consulted John Gumbert, author of "Inside Russia."

Traffic Up At Airport

Use of the Mercer County Airport hit an all time high in May with 3,187 flights, an increase of 1,527 over the same month last year, airport director Richard J. Coffee has reported. The total figure includes 1,047 flights cleared by the control tower during the Joyce Airshow on May 2, but even with these flights excluded, traffic was up by 129 flights from the previous record high of 2,841 recorded in August, 1956.

Freeholder Coffee said that increases were noted in all types of flights, including airline, military and executive traffic. The May total was an increase of 1,171 over May, 1957, and 2,102 over May, 1956.

$10 MILLION RECEIVED
Objective is $33 Million. A total of $10,191,000 has been received in gifts and personal commitments toward the objective of "$33 Million for Princeton University." The new total was announced by James P. Oates, Jr., general chairman of the program. The new figure represents some $5,885,000 in funds obtained since the campaign was launched four months ago. Of the $10,191,000 received altogether, some gifts have been restricted by their donors for specific improvements under Princeton's expansion and renewal program.

Gifts of $1,919,981 have been designated for the new undergraduate dormitory quadrangle; $1,859,002 for the new engineering quadrangle; $1,770,141 for endowments; $1,465,135 for the biology building; $350,000 for the art and archaeology building; $215,286 for physical education and athletic facilities; and $229,000 for the music building.

Mr. Oates, who is chief executive officer of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, stressed the university's need for new endowment. He emphasized that gifts to endowment will be used to support faculty salaries, to strengthen the faculty by increasing the number of teachers in key schools and departments, and to establish 15 additional chairs for professors of outstanding stature.

In commenting on the progress of the program, Mr. Oates pointed out that initial talks have been made with prospective donors in major cities. Princeton now is 62 major centers from coast to coast where 85 percent of the alumni body are located, have already volunteered their services as chairmen of the $33 million program.

ETS PLANS FILM SERIES

"Horizons of Science." Educational Testing Service has received a supplementary grant of $41,500 from the National Science Foundation for the continued development of a new series of ten science films called "Horizons of Science." The films will be available for outboard use in schools next September.

The idea underlying these films is to cover a particular branch of science by showing a top-ranking scientist at work. The scientist himself explains his work in his own words and shows how he goes about it. It is hoped that the films will serve as a direct link between the nation's leading scientists and the students now in the nation's schools.

The primary method of distributing the films to schools will be through corporate and foundation sponsorship. Films will be bought by a business or industrial corporation, or a foundation, at a cost of $2000 for each set of 10 and presented as a gift to local school systems. School systems wishing to purchase the films directly will also be able to do so.

Already a number of corporate sponsors have already signed for the 1959-60 series. They include the Alcoa Foundation, the Champion Paper and Fibre Company and the Detroit Edison Company.

Dr. Horwig Will Be Narrator. The 16mm film series are produced by a team of professional film journalists, led by Alfred Butterfield, in association with ETS. Study guides for use with each film and an evaluation of its effectiveness in actual use will be provided by ETS.

Dr. Donald F. Horwig, professor of chemistry at Princeton University, and Dr. S. S. Wilks, professor of mathematics at Princeton University, will serve on the board of advisers to the producers of the "Horizons of Science" series. In addition, Dr. Horwig is introductory narrator for all the films.

The first three films in the series have already been previewed by over 500 educators and businessmen and more than $3000 students. One of these, entitled "Visual Perception," shows Dr. Hadley Cantril at work in the Perception Demonstration Center at Princeton University.

The other films now ready include: "The Worlds of Dr. Vlahnias," a study of the life and behavior of microscopic one-celled animals through the eyes of Roman Vlahnias, one of the world's greatest photomicroscopists; and "Exploring the Edge of Space," the story of polyethylene balloons and their use in carrying men and research equipment beyond most of the atmosphere—in preparation for sending them into space itself.

NEW SCHOOL PLANNED

For Kendall Park. Construction will begin shortly on a new elementary school to be built in Kendall Park for completion this fall. The opening of the school will coincide with the completion of 350 new homes in the housing development on Route 27, Franklin Park.

The school will be erected on a 12-acre site. It will be centrally located within walking distance of all the new homes. The builders will dedicate the school to the township, according to Herbert J. Kendall, developer. It will be an ultra-modern glass and masonry building housing 12 classrooms and a kindergarten room.

The large acreage reserved for the school and the one-floor design will permit subsequent expansion to triple its student capacity from 210 to more than 600 children. The school was designed by Jules Gregory, architect.

Two schools and an all-purpose auditorium building were completed earlier at the Kendall Park community. New school construction has been undertaken in anticipation of the expanded needs at the growing development already occupied by more than 300 families. Lewis S. Kraft of Princeton is sales director for the new home community, where a

Held at Lassell College, Auburn-dale, Mass., the conference was attended by Mrs. Loren Johnston, of 101 Overbrook Dr., and Mrs. Joseph Brown, 34 Edwards Place, in addition to Mrs. Schlegler. Mrs. Brown exhibited a series of drawings about the life of the league's founder, Jane Addams at the conference.

Among the issues discussed were "Population Explosion and World Peace," "A Social Science View of Childhood Education for Peace and Freedom," "Can Prosperity Follow Disarmament?" and "Problems of Integration in the North and in the South."

GOAL HALF REACHED

$1500 for Mental Health. The Mercer County Association for Mental Health has reached 50 percent of the goal set at $3000 for Princeton, with only half of the kits collected from volunteers who are working for the drive.

Henry Stratton, Princeton chairman, requests that volunteers who have not yet completed their areas do so as soon as possible. The completed kits should be returned in his office at Smith, Stratton and Wise on Halish Street.

FUND NAMES MARCUS

To Head Research Drive. S. Philip Marcus, general manager of the Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation, has been chosen to head the research division in next fall's United Community Fund campaign. He will be assisted by Albert Westfield, research director of Opinion Research Corporation, and James K. Delano of Applied Science Corporation of Princeton.

Others who will assist are Lawrence E. Benson of Benson & Benson; LeBaron Foster of Opinion Research Corporation, Charles K. Hurford of RCA Laboratories; Hans Kautmann of Food Machinery and Chemical Corporation, Robert P. Popine of American Cyanamid and Dykeman Sterling of Educational Testing Service.

The annual total collected in the research drive has grown from $14,300 in 1955 to $26,100 last year, according to Walter H. Scott, executive director of the United Fund. This has occurred while the number of research firms in the area increased from 15 to 27.

"The aid given by research people and their families to the health and welfare organizations of the community is very considerable," Mr. Scott said. He pointed out that six research leaders serve as trustees of the fund and seven were chairmen or associate chairmen of the fund's Budget Panel Conference.

Ralph S. Mason, fund president, reported "the example of the Mental Health Association in joining the United Fund as indicative of a beginning trend" toward eliminating the multiplicity of separate drives in the community. He said two other agencies have expressed interest in joining the fund.

Mr. Mason pointed out that the Mental Health Association, although an accepted member of the fund, will not begin to receive money from the fund campaign until 1960. He urged the public to support the association's current campaign, "its last separate drive."

Fireworks On July 4

The traditional July 4th fireworks program in Palmer Stadium, first held some three decades ago, will be staged again this year under the auspices of Princeton Post 76, American Legion.

Preceding the display, scheduled to start at 9 p.m., will be an hour's entertainment by the Princeton Community Band and the Princeton Youth Bugle Corps of North Trenton Post 458, American Legion. Admission will be $1 per person with children under 12 free when accompanied by adults.

Free parking will be provided on fields west of Palmer Stadium, with members of the Princeton W. Robinson Post 218 in charge. The gates will open at 7 p.m.; in the event of rain, the fireworks display will be held at the same time Sunday, July 5.

Report from THE MAYOR

More Than A Thousand. Nobody could get an accurate count of the enthusiastic youngsters who swarmed into the successful "first annual" field day of the Police Youth Program. Most estimates agreed that there were more than a 1000 boys and girls taking part in the long afternoon of sports activities.

It took only a few minutes for 1,200 boxes of ice cream to disappear. Congratulations and a word of appreciation are certainly due to the men of the Borough and Township police organizations who organized and directed this special event. One way to make sure that this becomes another Princeton custom and to make possible the ambitious schedule of other events for Princeton kids would be for those of us who may have overlooked sending our contribution for the P.Y.P. to sit down right now and mail a check: Police Youth Program, Borough Hall.

In the Swim. It was a privilege on Saturday afternoon to "cut the tape" that marked the formal opening of the magnificent new pool at the YM-YWCA on Avalon Place. Hundreds of Princeton residents packed the new building to watch the special events which were effectively presented to heighten interest in this facility. The pool is the tangible result of the effort of several thousand volunteers and contributors.

Town and Gown. On Tuesday, the Mayors again marched in the academic procession at Princeton University's commencement. This old custom reflects the continuing cooperation of town and gown.

Such cooperation is a "must" because the future, no less than the past, finds the problems of the community and those of the University requiring close consultation. A further step in this came last Wednesday as Borough and Township officials were given a special "preview" of the University's future building plans by Vice President Ricardo Mestre.

An example of a critical problem requiring early and careful thought: the replacement of the present College Road from University Place to Washington Road in the light of University plans to build across its present path. Another item: the need for play space for school children who have been using the William Street area, soon to be a part of the new engineering complex.

Inner Space. The Princeton High School commencement on Wednesday evening was an impressive event.

There was much food for thought in the "documentary" written and presented by the seniors as well as in the brief but powerful message from Board of Education President Graham Rohrer. A packed audience in McCarter Theatre was impressed by Mr. Rohrer's suggestion that we consider how well we may be learning to live with the "inner space" inside ourselves, and not spend all our time in efforts to conquer "outer space."

Thursday Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor" sessions will again be held on Thursday, June 25, and Thursday, July 2, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall.

No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings. If a question can be answered by telephone, you may call WA 4-3118.

LITTLE DESKS

Retired Doctor Is Collector. Today's executive carries his attache case and, possibly, his sleek portable typewriter. Yesterday's executive carried a portable desk made of fine wood and inlaid, if he could afford it, with even finer woods, ivory, silver or brass.

There is a splendid collection of these old desks among the many antiques that fill the home of Dr. Ralph B. Little, Aqueduct. "I have 75 or 100," Dr. Little estimates. "I've been collecting them for over 20 years and some that I paid about $35 for in the '30's would be worth $150 today."

Portable desks were made during the latter part of the 18th and the first half of the 19th centuries. Dr. Little thinks the Declaration of Independence may have been written on one and he has an etching which shows Lincoln seated at a table on which a portable desk has been placed.

The "little desks" vary in size. Those made for ladies are about the size of a portable typewriter with a slant front that opens down to present a slanted writing surface, often covered with red or blue velvet. There are minute drawers with ribbon pulls, a well for ink, pigeonholes about the size of a stamp, and sometimes even a secret drawer.

Desks made for men were larger and usually without the slanted front of the women's desks. They were like ornamental strong-boxes, often brass-bound or inlaid with silver.

Dr. Little is regarded as an authority on portable desks and he has published articles on them and on the skilled craftsmen who made their fine joinings and intricate marquetry.

He is particularly proud of the desks he owns made by Nathan Starkey of Philadelphia who worked as a cabinet-maker about

TAKE A LETTER. With this portable writing desk, a 19th century gentleman could take a letter anywhere or write one on his lap before the fire at a country inn. Made of camphor wood in China, it is part of a collection of 18th and 19th century portable writing desks belonging to Dr. Ralph Little. In this model, the front folds up and a tamour lap comes down over the pigeon-holes to make a slant-legged case about the size of a small piece of luggage. For further information on Dr. Little's collection, see story this page.

1831. Starkey has left his labors in one of Dr. Little's desks — there are only six authenticated examples of Nathan's fine craftsmanship.

Other desks in the Little collection include rare ones by Sheraton and Phyfe and an example of the work of Jacob Forster of Charlestown, Massachusetts, one of the few labeled desks from Forster's works.

Perhaps the most appealing item in Dr. Little's collection is a small mahogany desk made in 1800. It belonged to a young lady who used the light wood of its interior as a scratch pad and her carefully inked notes are still perfectly legible.

"To collect the 20th of June, 1800," she writes cryptically. In another corner, she experiments with three different spellings of "disappointed," in large, well-linked letters, she writes, "Oh, stocking" with five exclamation points, and "hope gone," with no comment. And in the center, "We expect to go weaker after next," probably carrying her little tamour desk under her arm.

SCHOOL BOARD CRITICIZED. In Hopewell Township, the NJEA Review, a teachers' magazine, has singled out the Board of Education of Hopewell Township for mishandling its merit salary plan. The editorial in the June issue charges that "teacher morale has been badly hurt by the hasty adoption of the merit system." According to the article, the board adopted the plan without adequate consultation of the teachers. Furthermore, "no criteria for evaluation." — Continued on Page 26

SPORTS In Princeton

ROUTINE YEAR ENDS

Varsity Averages Unchanged. A marked upswing in the won-lost averages of junior varsity and freshman teams raised the over-all percentage of Princeton athletics to .604 for the academic year just ended. A year ago, the figure came to a lowly .544. However, it was only the improved performance of the reserve and first-year Tiger teams that raised the figures. Tiger varsities were pegged at .548, a mere three points better than the .545 of 1957-58.

Complete figures show that Orange and Black entries in 15 different sports won 313 contests, lost 204 and tied eight. The .604 average indicates that they were successful in just over three of every five events in which they took part.

Junior varsity teams, engaging in more sports during the past season than at any time in the past dozen years, compiled the best average — a percentage of .688. The Class of 1962 topped its immediate predecessor by better than 100 points, finishing with 108 victories, 54 defeats and a lone tie for .666.

Two Titles Lost. From point of view of team championships, the year was disappointing. Princeton began the 1958-59 season with three titles but could defend only one successfully.

The lacrosse team won the Ivy championship for the third year in a row, but titles in football and soccer went, respectively, to Dartmouth and Harvard. The Tigers carried the battle for the gridiron crown to the last game of the season and the Nassau basketball team forced a playoff for the championship in its league, but in neither case was the Orange and Black successful.

Top record in dual competition among the varsity teams was compiled in tennis, with John Conroy's racket squad winning eight out of ten for a mark of .800. Best mark among the teams playing extended schedules was credited to Cappy Cappon's basketball quintet, which won 19 and lost only five for a mark of .792. Other good records were recorded in soccer (.773), fencing (.700), football and cross-country (both .667), and squash (.636).

Harry Kinnell's golf team, competing in two sets of intercollegiate, defeated 42 opponents and lost only to nine. The resultant .824 mark is highest of any varsity outfit.

Half a dozen varsities failed to top the tell-tale .500 mark. Below the break-even point were hockey, swimming, wrestling, crew and both indoor and outdoor track. The Tigers defeated a majority of their opponents in dual track meets last spring but finished last in the Heptagonals, a ten-team affair.

Two freshmen teams were the only ones to complete perfect records. The Class of 1962 was unbeaten in track and tennis, a feat duplicated in the latter sport by the Class of 1961.

TIGERS TRAIL AT SYRACUSE

Varsity Ninth, Others Seventh. As Wisconsin staged a major upset by winning the national regatta at Syracuse Saturday, Princeton's crew finished ninth among the 11 entries. The Orange and

BIG BAT: Although his team, Pete and Mike's, is the cellar-dweller in the Princeton Community Softball League, Carmichael "Snooks" Cirullo has been displaying championship form at the plate. With a batting average hovering around .400, Cirullo is the squad's leading slugger. (Staff Photo)

Black's time for the three-mile race on Lake Onondaga was 16:53.4 — a clocking that indicates a difference of a good dozen lengths between it and the victorious Badgers.

There were some real surprises in the order of finish, in addition to Wisconsin's ability to trim the favorites, Syracuse and Washington. For example, the highly-rated Cornell and Penn were far down the line, the Quakers even trailing Dartmouth, a development unheard of in other years.

Behind Wisconsin were Syracuse and Navy, with California fourth. Washington, Cornell, Dartmouth and Penn, all led Princeton, with the Tigers finishing in front of M.I.T. and Columbia.

Princeton's jayvees were seventh in a field of nine, with California winning. The Tiger freshmen were seventh out of ten in a race won by Cornell.

DARTMOUTH FAYORED

To Win Ivy Football Title. The Indians of Dartmouth are favored to retain the championship they won last November in the Ivy Football League. So say the directors of sports information at the eight member colleges, whose crystal ball-gazing was augmented by a number of sports writers in the east.

The southayers were about on target in 1958. They selected Dartmouth and Princeton to tie for the crown, and in the last half of the last game of the season, the Green edged the Tigers, 21 to 13, to finish first.

Princeton is figured to chase the Indians to the wire once more, with Cornell and Penn also assigned first division berths. Harvard (which, in its own pre-season publicity, has given itself "the best chance of winning the title in a decade") isn't ranked better than fifth in the voting.

Brown, Yale and Columbia are selected to bring up the rear. In the balloting, Dartmouth received eight first-place votes, Princeton four and Cornell and Harvard one apiece.

WE Congratulate

SEYMOUR VAN BLAKE Princeton Trainer

The first time he ever wore a Princeton uniform, while he was still a freshman, sprinter Dick Edmunds broke the University record in the 60-yard dash. In the spring of that year, he broke the Princeton mark in the 440-yard dash.

Then, before he even had a chance to report for the varsity, an injury sidelined the Excelsior alumnus. Wearing cowboy boots while working on a dude ranch last summer, he injured his heel to the extent that doctors agreed he would probably never be able to run again.

Edmunds sat out the winter season, kept checking with various medical experts and as warmer weather neared began to take daily workouts. Little hope, however, was held out for his participation in the busy season scheduled for the Princeton track team.

But by the time the Tigers took part in their first meet, Edmunds was running — and winning. The line reason: trainer Seymour Van Blake.

Edmunds' degree of success last spring is a testimonial to Van Blake's ingenuity. On slower southern tracks during the spring invasion below the Mason-Dixon line, his performances were an average of around 48 seconds for the grueling quarter-mile. Once back on Palmer Stadium's firm cinders, he dipped steadily lower, and last month, at Randall's Island, the Tiger sprint star broke the barrier again.

Running in the IC4-A meet, he was clocked in 47 seconds, a mark that not only broke his Princeton record by a solid four-tenths of a second but equaled a record that had stood for 27 years in IC4-A competition. It is noteworthy that two others who had run that fast (Bill Carr and John Woodruff) later represented this country in the Olympics.

Now in his fourth decade on the Princeton scene, Sy Van Blake first grew interested in athletics when he worked as a male nurse at New York's Bellevue Hospital, where doctors helped direct his career.

After becoming a trainer, he trained and taught in boxing circles before coming to Princeton in 1928. Sy has been abroad on three occasions, each in connection with U.S. participation in the male games. He prefers this country to trips overseas. Princeton is his favorite spot of all, and here in Princeton, he likes to travel "behind the scenes." If that's where he develops the ideas that occasionally top medical knowledge in rehabilitating an athlete, Princeton is content to have him stay there, and he'll be happy to have someone else take the bows.

Question of the Week

Question: Who do you hope will win the Patterson-Johansson heavyweight title fight? Who do you think will win?

Where asked: At the Patrelmen's Benevolent Association Field Day at Princeton High School field.

Murray Freyton, R.D. 2, U.S. Army: I hope Johansson wins because I think Patterson's manager has been using Patterson as a go-between in his fight with the IBC. I think that if Johansson wins, he'll be a more representative champion. However, it looks like Patterson will take it.

Raymond A. Mondore, Borough police chief, 274 Hamilton Avenue: Patterson, I think Patterson is a real champion, although he hasn't fought as often as he should have. The few fights he's had have proved him to be a real champion. I think he'll win.

Russell Davison, 193 Harrison Street, sheet metal worker: I'd like to see Johansson win because I'm a Swede, but I think Patterson will win. In my opinion he's a better fighter.

Richard J. Goeke, 34 Morgan Place, university maintenance: I hope Johansson beats Patterson. Patterson has been very lax in defending his crown, but that's probably partly his manager's fault. I couldn't predict who will win because I haven't seen Johansson fight.

A. C. Rader, 15 Allwood Drive, Lawrence Township, teacher: I'd like to see Patterson win. I think it would be nice to keep the title in the United States, and I think Patterson will do it.

James B. Campbell Jr., Township Police Chief, 440 Franklin Avenue: I hope the better man wins. Patterson has had a lot of unfavorable publicity, not only on his own account but also because of his manager. We'll know who the better man is on the day after the fight.

Picking The Winner

Naming the victor in a major athletic event has been a favorite American pastime for years, whether or not money changes hands on the outcome. The sheer pleasure of being able to register in the "I Told You So" League is all the average sports follower requires to keep him interested.

This Thursday in the Yankee Stadium, New York, Floyd Patterson will defend his world heavyweight title in boxing against Ingemar Johansson of Sweden. It's not a match calculated to stir the national interest in the sense that boxing did while Jack Dempsey or Joe Louis were in their prime, but it's the biggest event in its field this year in a sports-conscious country.

Patterson will enter the ring several pounds short on weight to the challenger but, for the long end of odds that are almost prohibitive. He's a 7-2 favorite, and few of the "experts" figure the fight will go the distance. For an indication of how ten Princetonians see it, Town Topics provides these answers.

Charles A. Stryker, 18½ Charlton Street, retired security guard: I hope Johansson wins. He fights better than the other fellow, as far as I can tell, and I think he'll come out on top.

Theodore H. Lewis, 33 Clay Street, Borough patrolman: It doesn't make any difference to me who wins, but I think Patterson will. I don't think his Johansson is any better than Brian London.

James Wheeler, 145 Valley Road, salesman: I'd like to see Patterson win to keep the title in the country. He hasn't been much of a fighting champion, but that's probably his manager's fault. I think Patterson will win.

Fred Porter, 202 Birch Avenue, Township patrolman: I couldn't answer because I'm not a fight fan. I don't believe in brutality and fighting, except in self-defense. From what I've read, though, it looks like Patterson will probably win.

HOMC TV TAPES FORESEEN

RCA Demonstrates Device, RCA Laboratories has demonstrated an electronic device which may in time allow proud parents to televise their children's antics, store the resulting tapes for years and show the pictures on their television screens in a fully-lit room. The projected cost of camera and tape device: $600.

As it stands now the machine will play only prepared TV tapes through home receivers, but RCA scientists say it will be a simple matter to add the take-it-yourself feature. Research and development of a reasonably-priced TV camera for home use is in progress.

The most immediate use of the new machine will be in schools, RCA expects. A single tape in the principal's office could be relayed to receivers in any number of classrooms, with "broadcast" times adjusted to teaching schedules. Valuable programs which appear too late at night for children to watch could be taped and shown to students at the school's convenience.

Other possible future products shown by the laboratories included electronics systems ranging from cigarette size to a size less than the head of a pin, devices which produce electricity directly from heat and the "integrated" communications system, which may eventually lead to a round-the-world, person-to-person wrist-watch telephone network. Most significant to the laboratories' basic research is the miniature electronics device, which in the result of studies which could end in the reduction of electronics to condensed "clouds of vapor."

ELECTRONIC ACCOUNTING.
Offered by First National Bank. The First National Bank of Princeton has introduced a new service of electronic record-keeping. The bank will make it available to all business and professional men whether or not they hold deposits with the First National.

Subscribers to the service will be furnished each month a complete, machine-made profit and loss statement, payroll control summaries, balance sheets and journals and ledgers.

Under this service all work will be done by an accountant in a company's own office. Notations will be made for use on the electronic machines, but company books need never be taken from a firm's offices.

Carried on in conjunction with local accountants, this service can be obtained for as little as $20 monthly. Limited service is also offered.

BEER SOLD TO MINOR

Liquor License Suspended. The state's Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control has suspended the liquor license of Community Wine and Liquor Store, 18 Witherspoon Street, for a period of 20 days. The suspension took effect on Wednesday and will extend until July 11.

On March 13, two ABC agents observed two minors who, empty-handed, entered the liquor store owned by John Johnson. Five minutes later the 19-year-old was seen leaving the premises carrying a paper bag which the agents subsequently ascertained contained nine cans of beer.

The order issued by the beverage control commission stressed that Community's was a second violation within a five-year period. In 1954, the store's license was similarly suspended for five days for a sale to minors.

The minimum penalty for sale of alcoholic beverages to a 19-year-old minor is 15 days. Because of the prior similar record, the license was suspended for 25 days but remitted to 20 days for a plea of non vi.

PLYMOUTH TO SHELTON

On Exclusive Basis, Shelton Motors will become Princeton's only Plymouth dealer with the introduction of the new models this fall.

Shelton will also handle DeSoto and the Valiant, Plymouth's new small car, but will no longer handle Chrysler. The changes were made in accordance with Chrysler Corporation's nationwide shuffling of franchises to facilitate the introduction of the new Valiant and the Dart, Dodge's small entry.

CLEANERS PLAN MOVE

Will to Lease Floor Space, University Cleaners, now at 78 Nassau Street, will move next door to the former location of the Princeton Shop, 76 Nassau Street.

The move, which will increase the firm's floor space from 420 square feet to 870, is expected to be completed on Wednesday. The firm may move its tailor from the main plant to the new store.

Both 76 and 78 Nassau Street are owned by Princeton University, which has not yet announced plans for a new tenant at 78 Nassau.

DOWN, FIDO

Dog Training School Opens. All phases of training for all breeds of dogs are now available at the Simon Training School for Dogs on the Brunswick Pike. In addition, the school will board, groom and condition dogs, provide stud services and offer German Shepherd puppies for sale.

The school, established in 1914, has been operated since March by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Neiner. Mr. Neiner, sergeant in the K-9 Corps with the 38th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon, has had 22 years of experience with dogs as trainer and instructor. He is a former supervisor of training at Second Sight, Guide Dog Foundation for the Blind, Long Island.

ation were announced." Within a month's time, an evaluation form was drafted, teachers were rated, and contracts were issued with varying salary increases according to the ratings. "Significantly, there was not nearly enough money to place teachers on the announced new merit scale."

The contracts were the first indication any teacher had of how the system might work or how any of them had been rated. It was too late for any discussion or appeal. The worst fears of a merit salary system seemed confirmed.

School Board officials have since promised a cooperative approach next year. The article declared it would be difficult, however, to win back the teachers' confidence.

The series is an extension of last year's lectures on "Great Religions of the World," and will continue from October 4 through January 24. Discussed in the talks will be Plato, St. Paul, St. Augustine, St. Francis, Luther, Wesley, Kierkegaard and the Existentialists and Buber.

PAC IN TWO TIES

Both 8-8 Deadlocks. House players probably will have the edge in a baseball team's opening its season with a pair of ties, each of which ended in an identical 8-8 score. Hoping for something more than a Mexican standoff, the Princeton Athletic Club is giving its first game a contest of the 1959 campaign this Thursday at 6:15 against Montgomery on the Princeton High diamond.

Pete Cook and Bill Clouney shared the pitching assignment in the first tieback, played on Thursday against Montgomery. The former aided his cause with a long home run in the fifth but was the victim of some shaky fielding by his teammates and three wrong-field Montgomery hits.

Arnold Skar, recent PHB graduate, paced the attack with three hits, including a triple. Pete Cook and brother John, an Exeter alumnus, weighed in with two, as did Bill Ramsey, John Hoff and Steve Hogarty. The latter pair are roommates at Notre Dame.

Jack Lackey and Charlie Perpetua worked the South Brunswick tie, while Dick Spilatore went to the plate for the uppercut. Dan Clio's base-batted double was the big blow of the contest, played on the Monmouth Junction diamond.

The Princeton nine will return to South Brunswick Tuesday for another contest. Montgomery will be on top here again next Thursday.

PETE AND MIKE'S WINS

Over First-Place Sportsmen. Pete and Mike's tallied two runs in the first inning and went on to defeat the Princeton Community Softball League-leading Sportsmen 3-1, at Fox Field Monday night. Two of the victors' runs were scored on homers.

In recording the victory, Pete and Mike's rebounded from a 1-7 thrashing administered Thursday by Samino's at Goldie Field. Samino's rebounded with a seven-run first frame and led easily all the way, tapping Pete and Mike's batter Herb Hodgson for 13 hits. The winning pitcher, Sam List, allowed nine safeties.

OVERDUE ADDITION: The author's name (Alfred Noyes) has finally been added to this fact-life poem on a Princeton Battlefield Monument. (Story this page).

RELATED CRIT

Noyes' Name Now on Monument. Princeton University and the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development have joined forces to give the late Alfred Noyes a civic line for four lines of verse he composed in 1918.

The stanza was written for inscription on a stone monument in Princeton Battlefield commemorating the common grave of 15 Continental and 20 British soldiers killed in the Battle of Princeton in 1777. Mr. Noyes, a well-known English poet, was a Visiting Professor of English from 1914 to 1923.

Recalling the erection of the monument in his autobiography, "Two Worlds for Memory," published in 1953, Mr. Noyes said, "Dr. Robert T. Fyne, one of the trustees, told me that after my death they would add the author's name to the inscription. If they do, my shade will be proud indeed."

After the poet's death on June 26, 1958, John Hood of Houston, 1940, wrote to his classmate, Dr. Robert T. Fyne, to remind the president of the university's 40-year-old promise. Mr. Hood wrote the inscription for the Battle Monument at the request of the then trustees, I hope the present ones will see fit to add his name," Mr. Hood said in his letter.

Dr. Gohsen contacted Salvatore A. Bontempo, State Commissioner of Conservation and Economic Development, and received the following reply: "It was unfortunate that Mr. Noyes' name was not included in the case for Borough police."

DIVER TRIMS TOPICS, 7-3

In Girls' Softball. League-leading Clarksville Diner scored four runs in the seventh inning to upset TOWN TIGERS, 7-3, in girls' softball at 95 Field Tuesday night. John Harris homered for Clarksville, while pitcher Sandy Bertrande went only six hits in clinching her fifth victory in as many outings.

In another league action, ETS defeated Thornes, 8-7, at 95 Field or Monday. The victory came in spite of a four-run barrage by Thornes in the seventh frame and the fact that Thornes had 12 safeties to ETS' five. Clarksville battered Thornes' 15-6 in a make-up game played at Goldie Field last Monday. Clarksville's attack was paced at the plate by Winnie Russell and Kelly March, both of whom went three-for-four.

JUNIOR LEAGUE TO START

Applications Still Open. Boys 13 to 15 who wish to play in the Junior Baseball League this summer may still enroll at the YMCA, Avalon Place. Commissioner B. E. Bergesen announced that application blanks should be obtained there as soon as possible.

Four teams will see action this season, with play scheduled to start July 4 in an all-league game and the regular schedule set to begin the following Monday, July 6. Bob Sinkler will manager the Matthews Construction nine, with Ed Swinnerton in charge of L. C. Bowers & Sons and Jim Wheeler running Nassau Oil. The Police Benevolent Association will sponsor the fourth team and provide a manager.

not placed on the monument during his lifetime, and (we) are eager to have the matter rectified now." Accordingly, the University, with state approval, has added the legend, "Alfred Noyes, 1880-1958," at the base of the monument.

DR. SILVERMAN TO MOVE

New Office at 164 Nassau. Dr. Benjamin K. Silverman, pediatrician, will move his practice to his new office at 164 Nassau Street beginning Monday. Dr. Silverman has been elected vice-president of the Mercer County Heart Association. He was installed at a meeting of the association in Trenton last week.

CLOTHES STOLEN

Found, Strews Near Road. Clothing valued at $155 was stolen from the closet of Paul Curran, 31, 25 Madison Street, last Wednesday and discovered hours later strewn alongside Stony Brook Road. Mr. Curran, manager of the King's Court restaurant, found the clothes missing when he returned from an overnight trip to New York.

The clothing, some of which was hanging from tree limbs, was discovered on the roadside by a motorist and recovered by police. Detective George J. Knowles is investigating the case for Borough police.

Custom Built Homes In Princeton's
Western Section

Just Minutes From Town on Princeton Pike
Mercer Road

These homes are custom built in the true sense of the word with an eye to the finite details that go to make for a truly custom home, and of course, provisions were made for complete air-conditioning. All houses are on lots of over an acre completely and individually landscaped and have oversized two-car garages. These homes are priced at close to builder's cost and well below the market.

80-Foot Ranch - (Under Construction) - Situated on a lovely high lot. Enter a large, gracious reception foyer; then see the spacious living room with a fireplace and lovely bow picture window - a mahogany paneled den with large glass sliding doors to your garden - full sized dining room and a separate breakfast room, both with picture bow windows - an extremely modern kitchen with all built in appliances - laundry room - 3 oversized bedrooms - 2 1/2 baths - and a full basement. Price below market $43,500.

2 Story Colonial - 4 bedrooms - 2 baths and a guest powder room - delightful living room with glass sliding doors leading to an outdoor dining patio - and a dream kitchen completely equipped to make your mundane daily chores a pleasant daily interlude. Priced to sell quickly. $44,500.

94-Foot Ranch - (Under Construction) - Situated on a corner lot - 3 large bedrooms - 2 1/2 baths, one bath with double basin vanity - large living room with fireplace and built in bookcases - paneled library or den - dining room - separate breakfast room, both with large bay windows and a completely equipped modern kitchen - laundry room and a large basement. Nothing in the area like it at $44,500.

2-Story Southern Colonial - (Under Construction) - majestically sitting in a group of lovely old trees stop a knoll with its 2 story white columns on a 40 foot portico against a background of old brick. The picture home one must see. 4 oversized bedrooms - 2 baths and a beautifully appointed guest powder room - large living room with a fireplace - mahogany paneled library - full dining room - separate breakfast room - fully equipped kitchen with all birch cabinets and a large laundry and utility room - also a full basement. This home priced at $47,500 is probably Princeton's biggest bargain.

Open House — Saturdays and Sundays 1:30 - 5:00 P.M., or can be seen by appointment. Just "phone New York City, Oxford 7-3646 (9 a.m. to 5 p.m.) or Princeton, Walnut 1-6592 (Eve.) or contact your own broker.

STYLE AND SETTING

for $43,000

This Bowers-built brick contemporary in the northwest section is unique in Princeton, both in style and setting. If you want a traditional house on a neat suburban lot, this house is not for you. If, on the other hand, you love something different and crave the privacy of three acres of woods, come, see and—we hope—buy! Built on the side of a ravine, overlooking a carpet of dogwood which slopes down to a brook, the house is all brick, wood, glass and flagstone—unusual and, to us, most attractive. Living room with two-way fireplace opening also into the study, dining area, modern kitchen, three bedrooms and two baths give ample living space for a couple or small family. Should the small family enlarge, the house is readily expandable and, location and construction-wise, worth every penny put into it.
